Calorie Content

The calorie count in Bigelow Vanilla Chai Tea is generally minimal. A standard 8-ounce serving of the brewed tea contains close to zero calories. This is typical for herbal and spiced teas that do not include dairy or sweeteners. The tea's flavor and aroma come from ingredients such as vanilla and chai spices rather than macronutrient-heavy additives.

For example, cinnamon has anti-inflammatory properties, while ginger may aid digestion. The spices enhance flavor without adding sugars or fats, maintaining the tea's low-calorie profile.

Vanilla Flavor

Natural vanilla flavor is incorporated to give the tea its signature sweet and creamy aroma. This flavoring typically does not add calories or macronutrients when used in the tea bag form. It enhances the sensory experience without compromising the tea's nutritional benefits.
