meditation event near me: Golden Pebbles Tritia Hamilton, 2011-03-03 With her drum and the Songs of Intention and Celebration author Tritia Hamilton has been keeping an appointment with the sunrise each morning for more than seven years. The songs beckon, smooth the pathway and celebrate our arrival into the New Garden Earth. From an island on the coastline of Maine to the high desert in the American Southwest and back to coastal Maine once again, Golden Pebbles traces an adventure of discovery which began while journeying to the sound of a Native American drumming rhythm. It was a journey from which I emerged astonished. I heard singing, I said to the drummer. You heard the voices of the ancestors, he replied quietly. The ancestor voices stirred a memory into the past, and into the future -- multiple layers converging in now. Eventually there were songs to sing -- to the heartbeat rhythm of the drum. Golden Pebbles is the story behind the ceremonial songs, the sunrise drumming ceremonies and the joyful radiating of a cohesive intention and direction. The lyrics for three dozen Songs of Intention and Celebration are included in Golden Pebbles. For more information about the songs, see: www.goldenpebblepathway.me meditation event near me: Meditative Moments of a Seeker Anurag S Pandey, 2022-05-28 Meditative Moments are moments beyond moments. They keep you realizing that you are eternal and infinite. They never leave you from your chase. They keep reviving themselves. They go on getting deeper and more mysterious. They start pulling you. You fail to keep yourself uninfluenced by them. Slowly you drown in them. The doors of the inner world start opening one after the other and you feel as if you are an alien on your planet Earth. I am in relationship with 'Meditative Moments' since childhood. Sitting for hours in Padmasana (Lotus posture) on the open terrace in the afternoon and playing the game of Meditation. Inviting spirits using planchette and to marvel at their actual arrival, to be effortlessly in continuous state of witnessing. Then came a period of divagation. But those moments walked with me like a shadow and embraced me again. There is no erudition in this book. If you are interested in experiences related to meditation and you want to delve deeper into those experiences, then this book is for you. It has four chapters. First chapter is about various experiences of the subtle world. How Krishna, Buddha, Jesus, Sai Baba, Goddess Dhoomavati, Vanadevi (Forest Goddess), Osho, Unknown Monk, Avadhoot Baba Sivananda etc met me in the subtle world and inspired me, helped me. Second chapter is detailed explanation of various experiences through which a spiritual practitioner undergoes while practicing meditation. For example the feeling of vastness, the pulsation in the penis, the movement of subtle bodies, the spinning and opening of the chakras, feeling the omnipresence of the consciousness, the unfolding of the past and the future, the manifestation of the inner world etc. Why and how do these experiences knock us? Which experiences are positive and which experiences are dangerous to be drowned in? How can we deepen these experiences? I have tried to put light on these factors as per my experience. Third chapter explains how we can practically use meditation for solving problems. How using meditation we can transform the future, heal physical and mental illness, understand, break and transform thought chains, purify body, mind, intellect and consciousness. And fourth chapter is about the benefits of meditation, how it improves your work skills, helps you set up your goals and so on.

meditation event near me: Cyber Zen Gregory Price Grieve, 2016-12-08 Cyber Zen ethnographically explores Buddhist practices in the online virtual world of Second Life. Does typing at a keyboard and moving avatars around the screen, however, count as real Buddhism? If authentic practices must mimic the actual world, then Second Life Buddhism does not. In fact, a critical investigation reveals that online Buddhist practices have at best only a family resemblance to canonical Asian traditions and owe much of their methods to the late twentieth-century field of cybernetics. If, however, they are judged existentially, by how they enable users to respond to the suffering generated by living in a highly mediated consumer society, then Second Life Buddhism consists of authentic spiritual practices. Cyber Zen explores how Second Life Buddhist enthusiasts form communities, identities, locations, and practices that are both products of and authentic responses to contemporary Network Consumer Society. Gregory Price Grieve illustrates that to some extent all religion has always been virtual and gives a glimpse of possible future alternative forms of religion.

meditation event near me: Walk with the Devil Zakariah Ali, 2012-11 I was profoundly touched by evil at the dawn of my life and have been haunted by the experience throughout most of my life. My mother was poisoned before my eyes at about age four; I grew up on that that fateful day and became aware of myself. I was touched by evil and the wickedness of man against man at the dawn of my life. She died an agonizing and horrible death. The room I shared with her smelled like rotten flesh or putrefied meat before her death. But the last time I saw her on earth she looked radiant and was miraculously transformed when I saw her seated in the village square for public viewing. She was at peace, the lines and marks of pain and anguish etched on her face as she lay dying were smoothed out. Her countenance was peaceful devoid of the expressions of agony and pains the hallmark of the last three to four months of her life. She was beautiful in death than during the last months of her life; death gave her peace. I did not know it but I was affected or influenced by the events of my mother's last days on earth. I do not fear death and whenever I came close to death I was more concerned about the inconvenience my death would have imposed on others than fear for my life. Death is not a bogey man. About a year after her death I encountered malicious spirits in the bush. I did not know the spirits were not human but I was apprehensive and fearful at the sight of little people under the fruit tree on which I sat. The spirits chased me from the bush to the village; during the chase the earth opened up and swallowed me for my protection. And not to be outdone the spirits followed me into the bowels of the earth. That was the second time in my young life that I was touched by evil of a different kind; I nearly died from the encounter with the malicious spirits. I was reunited with a father I did not know I had before my mother's death. But about three years after I was reunited with him he walked out on my new family; my stepmother and her children. Thus by age seven or eight I had gone through two broken homes. First, my mother walked out on my father when I was a baby and second my father walked out on my new mother and half siblings. For most of my life I was haunted by forces of darkness, malevolent spirits and scary nightmares from time to time. Scary and haunting nightmares led me to discover the power of prayer very early in life. I started praying before going to bed when I was in class three and the nightly nightmares ceased until I was a young adult and went to St. John Bosco's College. I discovered alcohol and began ignoring and skipping my nightly prayers or prayed haphazardly without heart and the nightmares came back. I was hospitalized about five times in one year from the effects of a nightmare and vision when I was a student at the University of Science & Technology, Kumasi... Divided by Faith United by Love My father was a tolerant Muslim; he did not foist his faith on the rest of the family. My stepmother followed no particular faith or organized religion until the last days of her life. She was animist; she worshipped our ancestral spirits and deities. I became a Catholic or Christian by virtue of education, my father made no attempt to convert me to Islam. The family while together was united by love not by faith; each member followed his/her own faith. I could not reconcile my new faith with my parents and realized that but for love we would not have known peace in our family. We are divided by faith but united by love that was the experience from my upbringing. My lack of blind faith is influenced by my upbringing. Man as God and Satan. I understand the meaning of some popular bible passages different from most because of my experience of the forces of darkness, my struggle in life against evil, witchcraft and malicious spirits. I understand the true meaning of the passage in Luke 17-20-21 -----For indeed the kingdom of God is within you . And the adm
