Common Sleep Disorders Treated

Swedish Sleep Medicine Cherry Hill provides diagnosis and treatment for a wide range of sleep disorders that affect individuals of all ages. These conditions can significantly impair daily functioning and overall health if left untreated.

Obstructive Sleep Apnea (OSA)

One of the most prevalent conditions treated is obstructive sleep apnea, characterized by repeated airway blockages during sleep causing disrupted breathing and poor sleep quality. Symptoms include loud snoring, daytime fatigue, and morning headaches.

Insomnia

Insomnia, the difficulty in falling or staying asleep, is another common disorder managed at this center. Chronic insomnia can lead to cognitive impairment, mood disturbances, and decreased performance at work or school.

Restless Leg Syndrome (RLS) and Periodic Limb Movement Disorder (PLMD)

These neurological conditions cause uncomfortable sensations and involuntary limb movements, often disturbing sleep continuity. Proper diagnosis and management can greatly alleviate symptoms.

Other Sleep Disorders

Additional disorders treated include narcolepsy, circadian rhythm sleep-wake disorders, parasomnias such as sleepwalking, and hypersomnia. The clinic's broad expertise ensures comprehensive care for diverse sleep issues.

Diagnostic Services and Technologies

Accurate diagnosis is crucial for effective treatment of sleep disorders. Swedish Sleep Medicine Cherry Hill employs a variety of diagnostic tools and procedures to evaluate patients thoroughly.

Polysomnography (Sleep Study)

Polysomnography is a comprehensive overnight test that records brain activity, eye movements, muscle activity, heart rate, breathing patterns, and oxygen levels. This test is essential for diagnosing conditions like sleep apnea and other sleep disturbances.

Home Sleep Apnea Testing (HSAT)

For selected patients, home sleep apnea testing provides a convenient, less intrusive option to monitor breathing and oxygen saturation during sleep in the comfort of their own home. Results help guide treatment decisions.

Multiple Sleep Latency Test (MSLT)

MSLT assesses the tendency to fall asleep during the day and is used primarily to diagnose narcolepsy and excessive daytime sleepiness disorders. This study complements overnight testing for comprehensive assessment.

Actigraphy

Actigraphy involves wearing a wrist device that tracks movement over several days to evaluate sleep-wake patterns, useful in diagnosing circadian rhythm disorders and insomnia.

Treatment Options Offered

Swedish Sleep Medicine Cherry Hill offers a range of evidence-based treatments tailored to individual diagnoses and patient preferences. The goal is to restore healthy sleep patterns and improve quality of life.

Continuous Positive Airway Pressure (CPAP) Therapy

CPAP is the gold standard treatment for obstructive sleep apnea. It delivers a steady stream of air through a mask to keep airways open during sleep. The clinic provides comprehensive CPAP titration and follow-up services to optimize therapy.

Oral Appliance Therapy

For patients with mild to moderate sleep apnea or those unable to tolerate CPAP, custom oral appliances are designed to reposition the jaw and tongue to maintain airway patency.

Behavioral and Cognitive Therapies

Behavioral interventions, including cognitive-behavioral therapy for insomnia (CBT-I), are offered to address sleep hygiene, stress management, and maladaptive sleep behaviors.

Medication Management

When appropriate, pharmacologic treatments are prescribed to manage symptoms of specific sleep disorders under close medical supervision.
